

Mychal Wynn - Individual Graduation Plan

Find out how Mr. Wynn inspires students to critically think about their career or college pathways

"I am responsible for helping each dual enrollment student develop an IGP. However, students were more likely to affirm a career pathway based on the career of someone in their family or something that they had seen on television. However, when I made them complete each of the activities in the book, the conversation became more thoughtful and engaging. Mr. Wynn came to our school and made a presentation to all of our students. Students began to see the world and their place in the world differently. Prior to Mr. Wynn's presentation, students have difficulty seeing beyond our small rural community. However, now our students are developing individual graduation plans with specific colleges or careers in mind."
